GUEST SPEAKER:- Robyn Hipkiss began her talk telling us about her lifelong dream to tell stories of inspirational men and women who influenced and inspired her over the years. She self-published two books. The first book is entitled “Australian Women of Grace”. When this was published, she wrote a story about her life and included it in the first book. Her second book was given the title “Australian Women of Courage”.

Her third book,, “Inspiring stories of Life and Faith” is part of the Inspiring Series published by Ark House Press. All but two of the stories in these three books are of local Canberra residents. Robyn lives in Canberra, she told us the the books provide excellent reading and make wonderful gifts for family and friends. Rather surprised to find herself an author late in life, Robyn told us she feels motivated by her belief that the example of the men and women featured in her books will inspire and encourage others to overcome their own particular life challenges. She went on to say she believes it is important for any one who may feel they too may want to write their own life story one day should be encouraged to discuss the idea with their family. Talk to them, ask questions such as what was it like when I was a child, a teenager etc?
