General Meeting 14.08.26

We sure know how to celebrate in Probus – and this seventh birthday of our club was no exception. Ninety-seven of our members gathered to mark the event on Friday, August 14, with Rosemary Edgley, our first President, recalling the foundation meeting and the hundred people who had gathered as a result of her door-knocking efforts. It's great that so many of these people are still with us. We may all be seven years older than back then, but we joined enthusiastically in singing our club a happy

Business was quickly despatched before the morning break, with Jan's overview of coming events (see Activities), Annette reporting briefly on the Lightning Ridge tour (read the full account in this issue), Frank thanking members for support of the successful Rotary event, and Valerie with not only the usual reminder about Probe news due dates, but also checking that all members had received their invitation to the launch of her fourteenth book on September 17. Not only would she really appreciate everyone coming, but she'd be grateful for a quick response (just click on the link on your emailed invitation to register) as it's most important to get an idea of numbers for catering plans. Even if you're not absolutely sure at this stage, please just register as soon as possible. (I'm very disappointed so many will be away on the Loxton trip!)

After President Lenore's feature joke, we had an extended sociable morning tea, while next door the other room was being set up for our guest performers, before we were entertained for more than an hour by the talented ShowBiz group, giving their 366th show. And what a show it was, with linking jokes from experienced compere - his 227th show – and a variety of splendidly costumed performances by singers who threw themselves into the popular music selection. Guitarist and saxophonist segments added variety, but perhaps most fun were the audience participation acts, where the talented Gavin Lloyd-Jones lost his red silk pants and maybe also his virtue behind the curtain, and Annette became the enthusiastic partner in a very funny dance duet (no! she hadn't been prepared – it was all impromptu!) V-P Alison as well. Not too many braved the dance floor despite invitations – but those who did were worth watching. The always with-it Liz Haynes strutted her stuff, delighting us all.

Lunch was an informal affair in the Bowling Club, as our usual venue was closed for alterations – unfortunate timing, but the excellent sandwiches from the Croquet Club Ladies were a compensation. We left, most of us clutching the bags of yellow calla lily bulbs generously donated by Jane Burton. So let's roll on to an equally enjoyable eighth year of our GBPC.

President's Message

Our Club's seventh birthday meeting was a lively and entertaining time and it was pleasing to hear fine voices when we sang Happy Birthday following Rosemary Edgeley's summary of the formation of the club. Favourable comments were received about our entertainers "That's Showbiz" whose performance was their 366th.

A special thank you to Jane Burton for the Calla Lilly bulbs which were well received by garden enthusiasts.

Club Holdfast (our meeting venue) is holding its 100th Centenary Dinner on Friday 9 October at 6.30 pm. The cost is $35 per person and a table has been booked in our name. Bookings are essential so if you are interested, please contact Annette Pelling - 0414 851 029. A copy of the flyer appears elsewhere in Probe.

Keep warm and well and I look forward to seeing you on the 10th September.

But OLD is good in some things: old songs, old movies and best of all, our dear OLD Friends.

Lenore Jones President

HAPPY HOUR

No surprises that numbers were down for the July Happy Hour on July 31 at the Surf Lifesaving Club as so many of our regulars were on the Queensland trip. But for the rest of us it was the usual sociable time and we'd love more people to drop in at 5 pm on the last Friday of each month (next August 28 and Sept.25.) Stay for an hour and a chat, or there's the option of staying on for dinner. Don't forget to book on TryBooking (even if only coming for a drink.) The Surf Club needs to know what size table to reserve for us. Easy parking under the building - you'll be very welcome.

The Probus Club of Marion – IT Conversation Group

PLEASE NOTE OUR NEXT IT Group session will be on Friday September 4th at Club Marion starting at 10.30AM when Emily from the City of Marion Libraries is back to present a new talk that provides an update on AI-powered scams and shows us how to use the new app Blinkist. Learn how identify text and email scams that are taking advantage of AI tools to enhance their believability and use this knowledge to catch scammers in the act! Then feed your curiosity with the app Blinkist, completely free to use with your library card! As always, there will be a Q and A portion at the end, so bring along your tricky questions. Please come along as we find Emily's talks most informative and interesting.

All Probus members, partners and Friends are welcome also other Probus Clubs are welcome, coffee is available to purchase.

Future dates to mark into your diaries:

October 2nd – Jordan our Mobile Phone expe

November 6th- Emily

December- No Meeting

February 5th - Emily

Hoping to see you at our next session.

WALKING GROUP:

Our first walk for August saw two different groups of walkers exploring very different places. Our walkers in Adelaide enjoyed a Patawalonga walk whilst a group who participated in the Lightning Ridge trip enjoyed a walk in Collarenebrin, in northern New South Wales. It certainly wasn't as cold as Adelaide and it was a very short walk. We discovered that Collarenebrin is a very small town!

Our second August walk was along the Sturt River pathway on a very sunny morning. Two walks are planned for September.

September, Wednesday 2nd meet in front of the Brighton jetty for a walk along the Esplanade.

September Wednesday 16th meet at the Camden Park Oval (enter off ANZAC Highway) for a walk along the shared walking- bike way, in the opposite direction to the August walk.

Why not come and join us for a leisurely walk and chat? New walkers are most welcome.

Rosemary Molden-Hauer, Ph 0408823467

THE SILENT MINORITY

Eleven stalwarts braved the cold to attend our August meeting at the Glenelg Football Club on Thursday, August 13. We found that almost all had an interest in aviation at some level. Three were pilots, others had worked in airlines, airports, aviation safety and other support fields. There was plenty to talk about.

Photo: What? Where made? Where is it now?

Coffee Mornings

I was sorry to miss July coffee - I think the weather here was better than ours on our northern holiday. But the August coffee mornings have been great, with a number of very welcome newcomers joining us. If you've not tried it, do come on the second and fourth Wednesday each month - just a casual hour of chat and friendship at our table down the back in Swedish Tarts, Nile Street, Glenelg. Easy to park at Coles, opposite. Next dates are August 28, then September 9 and 23, 10 am. Further information from Marie (0409 673 000)

BARBIES and BOCCE

July 26 we were back again in our usual spot for the monthly Barbies'n'Bocce at the Sandison

Reserve, Third Avenue, Glenelg East. Do come and join us for this friendly get-together each month (last Sunday) 12-2.00ish. Bring along your sausages, a drink and glass, we'll supply bread, onions, sauces, plates and serviettes. Hope to see you there! (And you don't have to play!)

OUR EVENTS MANAGER GOES NORTH-WEST

Jan Richardson recently returned from a 10 day trip to the Kimberleys sailing from Broome to Darwin, spending two days in Darwin before flying home. She writes:

I was very impressed with the 140 passenger Heritage Explorer ship we sailed on – each day we would go out in the Zodiacs manned by experienced and highly qualified staff who seemed to know the answers to any questions we put to them. On some days we stayed in the Zodiacs (inflatable boats) and just marvelled at the landscape we were exploring or on others would have “wet landings” where there was a walk involved. Equally impressive was the fact that a video was shown before a walk so you would know exactly what was involved and could decide if it was/or was not for you.

I did think in another life I would like to have been a geologist I was so fascinated by the magnificent rock formations and the stunning colour palette.

Highlights of the voyage included a trip out to the magnificent Ashmore Reef where there was a teeming display of bird life, but my personal favourite was seeing sea turtles cavorting in the pristine waters. Ashmore Reef is actually closer to Indonesia than mainland Australia.

Another highlight a helicopter flight over the magnificent Mitchell Falls. The flight out to the Falls was amazing as I had a front seat and a magnificent view. Not so on the way “home”. I do not like heights and avoid if I possibly can. You can only imagine how terrified I was when I realized the returning helicopter had no rear doors. As the pilot swooped and ascended I was clutching on to my back seat with all my might. There were no photos taken because I couldn’t even hold my phone. Also I might mention we were flying over a crocodile infested river.

In Vansittart Bay we saw some amazing rock art (some said to be up to 40,000 years old) before walking to the preserved skeleton of a WW11 Douglas DC3 Aircraft which crash landed during a mercy mission to evacuate 4 Dutch citizens from Java. Amazingly well preserved to this day.

Another wonderful day was spent on the King George River Gorge observing the towering 2,000 million year old sandstone cliffs which dwarfed our Zodiac. We cruised deep into the gorge marvelling at the untouched beauty of this waterway. At the end of the Gorge nothing prepares you for the grand spectacle of the Kimberley’s highest single drop falls as the King George River plummets 80 metres over the edge of towering ancient red sandstone cliffs into tidal waters – undoubtedly one of Australia’s most awe inspiring natural wonders the twin falls.

Each day of our voyage was a good day – I feel so fortunate to have had the opportunity to see and explore this part of the remarkable country we call home.

PS No more helicopter rides for me!

TRAVEL: Last call for Loxton

To anyone interest in joining the Loxton Trip 14th to 18th September. We have 2 rooms left on The Murray River Queen,
1 lower deck Riverside @$540 for 4 nights
1 lower deck Parkside @$480 for 4 nights
We would like to fill the boat if possible so if interested please ring :
Annette Pelling 0414 851 029

Itinerary to be advised but it will be 4 nights, 5 days of fellowship and fun in the Riverland.

The River Murray Queen, that several of us stayed on in Renmark, is now on the wharf in Loxton. Donna the owner has kindly given us, as she did in Renmark, 1 night’s accommodation free of charge for anyone doing a 4 night stay.

They have a café that is open for breakfast and lunches now and can also do dinner in the dining room on any of the nights. Be aware that accommodation on the boat is up or down stairs from the level you board. If you can’t manage stairs you may be better on land close by. The Loxton Hotel and Loxton Club also have very good accommodation at very reasonable prices; we will request group rates.

For either of these trips, further information or to register interest and accommodation preferences

FILM LOVERS ALERT

Probus movie-lovers monthly event:

Although the projector breakdown meant that we didn't see Primavera, the scheduled film, back in July, it's great to see that it will now be shown on Friday, October 2, with the complimentary morning tea at 10 am.

Meanwhile, for now we have several Friday offerings: The Odyssey, (the new much-talked-about film starring Matt Damon, on 28 August at 10.30; on Sept. 4 The Chronology of Water (a woman's escape from an abusive childhood into competitive swimming), and on 25 September Cycle of Time, a French Film Festival offering several months ago about a 1950s couple who find themselves transported to 2025. A pity the Sept. 11 film with morning tea, clashes with our Probus monthly meeting!

Easy to get to: tram along North Terrace, next stop after the Railway Station, then walk up Morphett St towards Hindley St (5 mins max) and theatre is on your right.

Further information: Mercury Cinema web page

or from Anna Bianchi 0438 390 337

(Ed: At $12 a film, - with morning tea - this is remarkable value !)

COOKS' CORNER - Elizabeth Frearson

MEMBER NEWS

Our Membership Officer Annette appreciated the sympathy and care Probus members showed after the tragic accident that ended her grandson's life on July 26. She has asked us to give you this message: I would like to thank everyone who gave me support during the sad loss of my 19 year old grandson, Asher. The love and compassion shown to me lightened a very heavy load.

Remember me telling you last issue about Ronda Ross's 90th birthday celebration - driving the Cockle Train from Victor to Goolwa? Well, she didn't actually drive it, but enjoyed pretending - photo to prove it! Her family trip on the cockle train gave her the chance to at least sit at the controls – even if they wouldn't let her drive it.

Talking of free refreshments, Probus film lovers are enjoying the monthly Friday Seniors films at the Mercury Cinema, only a five minute walk from the tramstop in North Terrace, because Retirees Australia provides a complimentary morning tea at 10am before the 10.30am film. Option of joining us for lunch afterward to talk about the film. See Anna's film column (page 5) for what's on in September.

Energetic Carrick Hill President Frank White is prepared to put in the hard work for this superb SA treasure. The photo shows that he and other Probians are willing to put in the hard yakka needed.

If you haven't yet seen the memorable 'Monet to Matisse' exhibition at the SA Art Gallery, don't miss this chance to recognise the changing face of art since the early Impressionists. It's a rare coup for SA to get this exhibition which rarely leaves the USA. Members who have seen it have been really impressed. It's on 10am to 5 pm seven days a week until November 8

President Lenore spent two weeks in Brisbane with son and family, then a week in Darwin with her cousin. Back home, then she had a happy few days away at Loxton, where the river views were spectacular. Those on the Loxton tour should be in for a treat.

But Valerie is still lamenting that so many of you will be at Loxton and not at her book launch on September 17 at Immanuel College Auditorium. All Probus members (and partners/friends) are invited, and I'd love to see every possible member there. Please all take this as a personal invitation and register as soon as possible, as I'm trying to plan the catering. Just click on the link on the invitation or go to this address <https://bit.ly/3SbIX3e> to register (NB free refreshments provided)

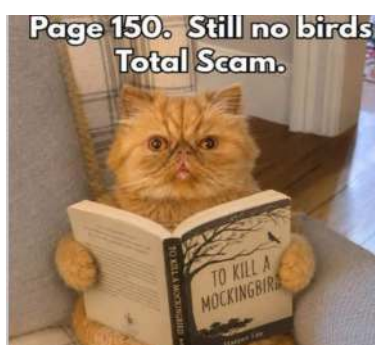

The Volk/Harris household has had welcome visits from interstate grand-daughters during recent weeks, but others have had to travel to see their families. Off to Torquay are Cathryn Wellner and Robin Jarman, and there are many others who do the family circuits regularly.

David Harris's Second Wind Ensemble was invited to Maitland two weeks ago to perform their entertaining concert, based on James Bond (and other) music, titled Shaken not Stirred. Quite a day out for the forty members of this band.

PROBUS GOES OUTBACK

On Fri day 31 July, 21 members of our club flew to Brisbane to share a tour with six members of the Brisbane Probus and one Member from Diamond Creek (Vic) Our group spent a first night in the Ibis Styles Hotel in Brisbane and on the 1st August met the others to set off in a 39 seater bus on a Granite Highland Maxi-Tour to St. George, Lightning Ridge and Goondawindi (pronounced Gundawindi).

Allan Foster, our driver and the owner of the Tour Group, was full of knowledge and gave us great commentary on the regions, the outback towns and areas we travelled through. Allan was wonderfully patient with us although I think he sometimes regretted showing us something, then asking: "Would anyone like to get off the bus and take a quick photo?" Of course the whole bus exited every time

We were treated to breakfasts, morning teas, lunches, afternoon teas and dinners until we were all bursting at the seams. We stayed two nights in St. George, two nights in Lightning Ridge and one night in Goondawindi.

We visited Pittsworth Historical Village, Nindigully Pub, and a cotton farm where we heard in great detail how the fields are set out and watered and the way cotton is picked and baled. Visits also to Riversands Winery, Beardmore Dam and the beautiful walk along the Bolonne River, a cruise on the river with Sandytown River Cruises and a visit to Unique Eggs where there were hundreds of exquisitely carved emu eggs, all the work of one man. We stopped at the Durandandi Hotel, John Murray Art Gallery, and after dinner went to visit the hot springs. Great fun.

We visited Mel and Susie's unique property which once belonged to the artist John Murray and was built by him from scraps and second hand car doors, bottles etc; there we were treated to a great lunch and some bush yarns, poetry and a comedy show about bush people and situations.

Another unusual stop was at Amigos Castle, all built by one man with rocks from the area. Just amazing. A highlight of the trip was a walk into an opal mine, hard hats compulsory, and it was so interesting to see where men had dug down, around, in and out of tight spots, chasing the elusive black opal, shoring up the walls as they went further and further underground. Another dose of hot springs and this time others participated after hearing the great reviews from the night before.

Onward to Collarenebbri, Moree and a visit to the statue of Gunynd, a famous racehorse from the area and the wonderful Goondawindi Cotton Shop.

We stayed at the Merino Motor Inn in St. George, the Lightning Ridge Outback Resort in Lightning Ridge, and Ascot Motor Inn in Goondawindi and were treated very well in all. Everyone had a great time, we got on well with the Brisbane members and the Diamond Creek lady and everyone mixed well. Some stayed on for a couple of days in Brisbane after the trip, rounding off their time beautifully.

We are all on a diet now!!!

UNDERGROUND ADVENTURE

The Probus group, limited to 20, visiting the old Treasury building met our guide Gael in the lounge of the Adina hotel currently occupying the building. The importance placed on the legal establishment of the colony of South Australia shows not just in the beautiful old stone building that housed it, but that it was built only three years after the colony was proclaimed. The visit started by climbing a long staircase up to the Cabinet Room with its impressive Cabinet Table. It was here that the major decisions on the development of the state were made, and recorded in large, leather-bound volumes in shelves all around the walls of the room. The philosophy of the new state was established by the nine men around the board table, led by Charles Kingston, with world-leading actions, such as votes for women and eligibility of women for parliament membership, second only to New Zealand. The state with the other colonies was also a strong supporter of federation into the nation of Australia. Another key adviser to the cabinet was Surveyor-General George Goyder. His establishment of Goyder's Line to determine the limit to viable cropping, dictated by rainfall, was of key importance to the state development.

Down more stairs through the hotel. We heard that there was an agreement with the post office to stop the chimes from its clock during the night to allow hotel patrons to sleep in peace. Onward to the tunnels which had a rather dungeon-like feel with bare, rough brick walls and ceilings and basic lighting. The tunnels available to us were limited, with others sealed off, including tunnels to the Post Office. They were built to store the documents generated within the building by the large clerical staff at work there. They clearly expected a lot to be generated and stored! There was close attention to the possibility of fire. Storage rooms accessed by the tunnels could be closed off with fire-proof doors to confine a possible fire and limit damage, bearing in mind that large-scale copying had not been developed. Ceilings were also very strong to withstand damage from possible earthquakes. Today they also withstand vibration from heavy traffic. Rails within the tunnels show the way that documents were moved there.

There was discussion about the financial problems of the time, when money was stored as gold. Gold in Adelaide was melted to make gold coins, the Adelaide Pound in two issues. The state was close to running out of gold coin when the treasury instituted a system of Promissory Notes, serving as a currency to fund developments.

The tour concluded in the courtyard, centrally placed in the building complex which included several major extensions over the years. The explorer John McDouall Stuart stayed there between his explorations, preferring to pitch a tent on the lawn to being confined in a hotel room. The Beatles also spent time in the courtyard during their 1964 visit, using the tunnels to escape the crowds via the GPO tunnel.

After the tour a large group made the short walk to the Crown and Sceptre hotel for a very enjoyable lunch.

David Harris
